

also called for the previous Islamist-dominated parliament to reconvene in order to "save the country's sovereignty."

Based on media reports in: al-Wasat, Libya al-Mustakbal, Libya Herald

Italian-Libyan Chamber of Commerce Warns of Potential Collapse of 200 Italian Companies

According to the President of the Italian-Libyan Chamber of Commerce, GianFranco Daniamo, 200 Italian companies currently working in Libya are at risk of collapse. As such, Daniamo proposed the establishment of a guarantee fund to relieve the financial burden created by the growing deterioration of Libya's security situation. To make his case, Daniamo wrote a letter to the Italian Prime Minister, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Minister of Economy and Finance, and the Minister of Economic Development imploring the government to "invest in the future" and work to save the Italian companies in Libya.

Based on media reports in: Libya Herald
